The Pope Lapses Into Delirium and Sees
And Hears Strange Things.

HAND OF TIME IS NOW HEAVILY FELT

All the Arts of The Physicians Cannot Stay the Gradual Approach of The End of Wonderful Career of Leo XIII.

[By Telegraph to The Age.]
Rome, July 14, 4:30 p. m. (10:10 a. m., Coshocton time).—No change in the Pope's condition. Nephews remain near him.

Rome, July 14.—By the greatest physical and mental effort the Pope at 6 p. m. (noon Coshocton time) raised himself and got out of bed, returning in a few moments.

NO NOURISHMENT.

Rome, July 14.—The organs of the Pope are gradually ceasing to perform their natural functions. All process of elimination has ceased, and no more nourishment is being taken.

HAS DELIRIUM.

Rome, July 14, 11:25 a. m. (5:05 a. m., Coshocton time).—The Pope has delirium for the first time. After the visit of the doctors this morning he asked to see Rampolla, and had fifteen minutes conference with him. He then asked for the Franciscan benediction. Cardinal Tuto came and fulfilled the wish of the Pope, and the Pope gave an apostolic benediction to the whole Franciscan order.

At 1:25 p. m. Dr. Laponi left the sick room and went to see his daughter who is ill. This is taken to indicate that the danger of the Pope's death is not imminent.

The Pope had frequent fainting spells during the night and refused to take nourishment.

SEES APPARITIONS.

At 9:15 the bulletin said there was no change. During the morning the Pope gave instructions that his jubilee gifts were to belong to the Holy See, and delivered to his successor. As morning progressed the attacks of delirium became more severe and he saw apparitions and heard noises.

LYNCHERS ARE MURDERERS

Justice Brewer of The United States Supreme Court Speaks Out Flatly on Subject of Stringing up Blacks.

[By Telegraph to The Age.]
Milwaukee, July 14.—"Every man who participates in the lynching or the burning of a negro, is a murderer, and a simple."

This opinion was given by Associate Justice David G. Brewer, of the supreme court of the United States, who is in the city on private business.

"Of course," explained Judge Brewer, "there may be extenuating circumstances which would vary the degree of the crime, but the principal participants in the crime can be held by any court in the land for murder in the same degree as if the crime were committed by an individual.

There is going to be a reaction against the atrocious crimes with which the papers have been filled. The fact that the people are now interesting themselves in the discussion of this problem makes manifest the fact that there is a tendency toward a change. I expect that it will come soon."

BISHOP JOYCE SPEAKS OUT

Days Denominational Societies Should Remain Separate.

[By Telegraph to The Age.]
Minneapolis, July 14.—Bishop Isaac W. Joyce, president of the Epworth league, does not believe that the suggestion, made at Denver, for the amalgamation of the Christian Endeavor, Epworth League and Baptist Young People's union is practicable. Each, he says, stands for its own denomination, the Christian Endeavor society being Congregational. The Epworth League represents all ranches of the Methodist church in America, he says.

JEWES WERE NOT MURDERERS OF RUSSIAN LAD AT KISHINEV

Authorities Discover Real Culprits---
Roosevelt May Not Send That Petition.

[By Telegraph to The Age.]
Kishineff, Russia, July 14.—The murder of the boy whose death was charged to the Jews and which was the cause of the massacre, has been discovered.

He is a gardener and has confessed that he and the boy's uncle committed the crime.

The new governor of Kishineff has exchanged visits with the leading Jews of this city.

Oyster Bay, July 14.—An important conference was held by the president today with members of the Bnai Brith concerning the petition to the Russian government.

The result is not stated, but there is a strong probability the petition may not be forwarded to the Russian government.

Both the president and Secretary Hay visited the incident closed, as further delay may embarrass other negotiations with Russia.

MOB THWARTED BY BRAVERY OF U. S. SENATOR

[By Telegraph to The Age.]
New Orleans, La., July 14.—United States Senator Murphy James Foster saved a negro from being lynched last night.

It was in his own parish, St. Mary's, that he was able to accomplish the marvel of turning aside the mob. Scores of men have been lynched there for crimes less terrible than that of which the wretch lying in the jail was accused.

He had attempted to assault Mrs. Rene Habert, the wife of a wealthy planter of St. Mary's parish. He was arrested. Senator Foster hurried to the house of Judge Allen and Judge Smith was also called into consultation. The three went to the jail and waited. The mob was expected at midnight.

MOB CAME.

It appeared on time. The leaders made a demand for the keys, expecting nothing more than formal opposition. Instead of the sheriff appearing at the door it was United States Senator Foster—perhaps the only man in the country who could make the mob listen to him.

He boldly attacked the mob for attempting lynching and before it was covered from its surprise he told them that the district judge would move the machinery of the law so swiftly that there was no chance for

SHE KILLED BEAR THAT STOLE BABE

[By Telegraph to The Age.]
St. Joseph, Mich., July 14.—The brave act of a frightened mother under trying circumstances, saved the life of her child from a terrible death near Prescott, Mich., yesterday.

Mrs. Frank Gray, living a few miles east of Prescott, with a family of four children, was engaged in picking berries near her home, when a large black bear put in his appearance, having journeyed into the open field from his hiding place in the nearby woods.

BEAR TOOK BABY.

The three other children ran from the field into the house and left behind the baby seated under a tree.

The bear had picked up the child and had started off with it when the frightened mother rushed to the house, secured a rifle and taking aim, shot the animal dead.

The child escaped with slight injuries.

WILD WIND LIFTED THE TENT UNDER WHICH WERE 8000 ENDEAVORERS

Score Injured by Vast Canvas Falling on Crowded Seats in Heavy Folds.

PANIC FOLLOWED PERILOUS ACCIDENT

[By Telegraph to The Age.]

Denver, Col., July 14.—The big Tent Endeavor in which the Christian Endeavor convention has been held for the past four days, was blown over, today while more than 8000 persons were under the canvas and nearly a score of men and women injured.

A. M. Ramsey of Chicago, quickly sprang on a chair and called to the people to hold up the canvas and poles.

THOUGHT QUICKLY.

Mrs. Winifred Sleep of Denver, who was in charge of St. Mark's hospital tent, seeing the catastrophe at the big tent, telephoned the electric light company to shut off the current. This prevented any damage from the live wires that had fallen with the tent poles.

The session was in full progress in the tent when signs of rain and some wind crept under the roof of the tent whose sides were rolled up to admit air. A sudden squall lifted up the big canvas as if it were a balloon and the immense stretch of cloth belled like a sail in the wind.

The guy ropes and the main poles were pulled from their places and the gust of wind momentarily ceasing, the tent roof collapsed.

Even as the tent was in ascent, many of the worshipers became panic stricken.

SMOTHERED SCREAMS.

The screams set up by hundreds of women were hushed by the fall of the canvas.

Hundreds of men sprang to their feet almost before Mr. Ramsey called and those who were not tripped by the entangling canvas caught the poles and balked the chute.

Those who had fainted and those who suffered from injuries were quickly removed to the hospital tent.

FALL OF ROCK CLOSSES MINE FOR SHORT TIME

Cassingham mine No 3, two and a half miles south of the city, is closed today on account of a fall of rock there last night.

The eighty men employed in the mine were there on time this morning, many of them walking from their homes in the city, and then walked back again.

Some time during the night rock had fallen and loosened the trolley wire that leads into the mine, and conducts the system of trolley cars.

Workmen are busy today cleaning up and getting things in shape, and work will be resumed in the morning.

LIBRARY SITE MAY BE CHOSEN BY COUNCIL TONIGHT

At tonight's meeting of the city council it is likely that some new suggestions on a library site will be made. It is understood that a paper will be presented, asking that the library be located on Burt avenue, on the ground owned by John Kisner

The lot is said to be $3000. This is the lot from which the gravel has been taken for the past several months.

It is also likely that some action will be taken in regard to pushing the market place proposition along.

TROUBLES GET AIRING IN COURTS

Mortgage Notes Get Their Holders Into Litigation.

Rebecca J. Hood, Sarah K. Hood and Samuel W. Hood, through their attorneys, Nicholas & Merrell, have commenced suit in common pleas court against Minerva Hood. The petition sets forth that in 1884 Mary J. Hood sold to Francis N. Sondles, 73 acres in White Eyes township. Sondles gave notes secured by a mortgage on the land. The mortgage was afterwards foreclosed and the land sold by the sheriff in 1886. The husband of Mary J. Hood bought in the land and gave a mortgage to J. C.

tiffs bought forty acres. Then, the petition alleges that Oliver T. Hood, the husband, was induced, while his mind was weak, to deed forty acres of the estate to Minerva Hood without any consideration. The plaintiffs ask that Minerva Hood be made to convey the title to them.

Wants a Judgment.

Smith Bros. of Isleta, has brought foreclosure proceedings against Willis Long and wife and Charles E. Crist. Joe L. McDowell is Mr. Brown's attorney. The petition recites that Willis Long delivered to Charles Crist three notes of $25 each due in one, two and three years respectively. The following March Crist endorsed and sold one of the notes to Brown. The following July Brown bought the second note of Manches Atkinson. It was endorsed by Crist but not by Atkinson. Brown still holds these two notes. At the time the notes were made Long and his wife gave Crist a mortgage on a small tract of land in Oxford township. The mortgage was assigned to Brown last March. Now Brown claims that by reason of the payment of the first note and the fact that the second note was not paid, the mortgage was terminated.

YOU WANT IT.

You feel all knocked out. No appetite, weak, can't get down to work or business. Your stomach out of order and does not digest your food, caused by catarrhal condition there. The inner lining is inflamed and coated with a thick, sticky mucus. The food on entering it also becomes covered with this mucus. Gastric juices cannot then act upon it. It lies there, decomposes, generates gas and you have horrid breath, bloating, dizziness, heart palpitation and many other distressing symptoms. Unless you dissolve this mucus and treat stomach you cannot hope to be better.

Ho-sen-do Stomach Tablets is the only medicine known that will dissolve this mucus and not injure the stomach. They also act as a curative, increase appetite, stimulate gastric action and remove all catarrhal conditions.

Our treatment is the only common-sense one for the cure of stomach troubles offered. We make a dissolution of the tablet in hot water and by flushing out the stomach with this before eating dissolve the mucus and effect a cure. Truly the greatest stomach remedy of the age. A SUSTAINING DIET.

These are the enervating days, when, as somebody has said, men drop by the sunstroke as if the Day of Fire had dawned. They are fraught with danger to people whose systems are poorly sustained; and this leads us to say, in the interest of the less robust of our readers, that the full effect of Hood's Sarsaparilla is such as to suggest the propriety of calling this medicine something besides a blood purifier and tonic,—say, a sustaining diet. It makes it much easier to bear the heat, assures refreshing sleep, and will without any doubt avert much sickness at this time of year.

Scores Killed by Lions

How Two Man Eaters Stopped Work on the Uganda Railway

DURING the building of the Uganda railway in 1893 the construction camps at Tsavo were for several months in terror of two lions that carried off a large number of Indian coolies and African workmen. So great was the loss of life that finally the men refused to work and deserted the camps. For three weeks the lions completely tied up work on the road.

The lions were finally killed by Lieutenant Colonel J. H. Patterson of the British army, but not until twenty-eight coolies had been killed, besides scores of negroes of whom no record had been kept. Colonel Patterson himself tells of a few of the incidents that took place during the reign of terror.

Colonel Patterson's first experience with the man eaters occurred about the middle of March, 1893. Railroad had just reached Tsavo when one or two of the coolies mysteriously disappeared. "At first I thought," said Colonel Patterson, "that they had been the victims of foul play, but that idea was soon dispelled. I was aroused one night and told that a man named Ungau Singh, a fine, powerful Sikh, had been carried off during the night by a lion while he lay asleep in a tent shared by some dozen workmen."

"One of the man's bedfellows had seen the whole occurrence. At midnight the lion put his head in the open tent door and, as Ungau was nearest, seized him by the throat. The unfortunate fellow threw his arms around the lion's neck. The next moment he was gone, and his terror stricken companions described the terrible struggle they heard outside. Poor Ungau Singh must have died hard, but what chance had he?"

"A regular reign of terror now commenced in our little camp. I accord-the lion got him clear he sprang at the man's throat, and the poor water carrier's cries were silenced forever. The lion, not being able to leap the fence, ran up and down with his lifeless burden in his mouth, looking for a weak place to force his way through. This he presently found and plunged into, dragging his victim with him, leaving shreds of torn cloth on the thorns as evidences of his passage.

"Two more men were taken from Engoman's camp a few days later. One was killed outright and eaten and the other mauled so that he died in a few days.

"For several nights thereafter the lions did not appear, and the coolies, believing they had gone for good, resumed labors, and the camps assumed their normal condition.

"We were suddenly startled out of this feeling of security by hearing one dark night the old terror stricken screams and cries, and we knew at once that the lions had returned and had added another unfortunate to their long list of victims. This time they had seized a poor man and eaten him within thirty yards of his tent, and so daring had they become that they did not attempt to move until the ghastly meal was finished.

"On Nov. 30 the two lions made another successful raid within a hundred yards of a permanent way inspector's hut. I could plainly hear from my hut the commotion and the terrified shrieking of the coolies.

"Then I telegraphed for Mr. Whitehead, the district commissioner, to come. On the night he said he would arrive he did not come. After dinner I went out alone to watch for my friends the lions. On this particular night I sat up on a sleeper crib which I had had built on a big girder that ingly made the men construct a very thick and high boma or fence of thorns round each camp, and inside this they were fairly secure. The lions then attacked the Railhead hospital camp, which had been left behind at Tsavo and which stood in rather a lonely position. They jumped the boma and almost succeeded in seizing the hospital assistant, who had a marvelous escape. Being disappointed in this, one of them sprang on to and broke down a tent in which there were a dozen patients and made off with a poor wretch, dragging him bodily through the thorn hedge. A couple of others were wounded by the lion as he jumped on them. The brutes made several raids on the hospital.

"A fresh site was prepared for the hospital near the cooly camp and all the patients were removed. I sat up all night in the vacated hospital, but the lions did not come. I had the mortification of hearing shrieks and groans coming from the direction of the new hospital, telling me only too plainly that our dreaded foes had attacked that position. Another man was carried away.

"I found next morning that one of the lions had jumped into the boma and taken off the hospital blast (water carrier). Several men were witnesses of the whole terrible occurrence, which they could plainly see by the light of the big campfire. The blast, it appeared, was lying on the floor of his tent with his head toward the middle and his feet touching the side. The lion put his head under the canvas, seized him by the foot and dragged him out. The poor fellow in desperation clutched at a box, which he dragged with him until it was stopped by the tent, and he was forced to let it go. He then caught a tent rope, which he held tightly until it broke. As soon as was close to a 'likely' camp for the lions to attack. Soon after taking up my position I was surprised to hear the two lions growling and purring over something quite close to where I was sitting. I could not understand it, for I had heard no commotion in camp, and by bitter experience I knew that every meal the brutes got meant trouble for us. After a time I saw their eyes glowing in the dark and promptly fired at them. They then took whatever they were eating and went over a small rise which prevented me from seeing them and there finished their meal.

"The next morning what was my surprise to meet Mr. Whitehead looking very pale. His clothing was ripped from the nape of the neck downward, and there were four big claw marks on his body. His train, it appears, was very late, and it was quite dark when he arrived at Tsavo. In order to reach my camp he had to come through a cutting. He was accompanied by Abdullah, his sergeant of askaris (native soldiers), who carried a lighted lamp. When they were about half way through the gloomy cutting one of the lions suddenly jumped down from the high bank right on to Whitehead, knocking him over like a nine-pin and tearing the clothing off his back. Fortunately, however, Whitehead had his carbine in his hand, and this he instantly used. The flash and loud report must have dazed the lion for a second, enabling Whitehead to disengage himself, but the next instant the brute pounced like lightning on the unfortunate Abdullah, with whom he made off. Whitehead fired again at the lion as he was going off, but apparently missed.

"It was, of course, poor Abdullah that I had heard the brutes eating during

U. S. Steel Profits

Annual Net Earnings Equivalent to Five Years' Interest on Total Bond Issue.

In view of the recent issue of $200,000,000 five per cent bonds, by the United States Steel corporation, that company's statement for the six months ending June 30 is of special interest to those who are ever on the alert to profit by the rule that it is well to buy securities when they are cheap. It shows the net earnings for six months after deducting, each month, the expenditures and maintenance of plants, also interest on bonds and fixed charges of subsidiary companies, to be the enormous sum of $61,568,235; and unfilled orders on hand on July 1 amounting to 4,666,578 tons. These figures are pregnant with the evidence of past and future prosperity.

From the net earnings of $61,568,235 the sum of $7,335,299 is deducted, of which $6,655,504 is set aside for depreciation and reserve, and $729,795 for the sinking fund on bonds of subsidiary companies, thus leaving for bondholders and stockholders the sum of $54,182,936.

Out of this sum of $54,182,936 there was paid to bondholders $7,600,000. (This is six months interest on the issue of $304,000,000 of five per cent bonds, which are quoted on the bond market at 110 and 112.) And there was set aside for the sinking fund of the same bonds $1,520,000. In addition to this $17,859,839 was paid (subject to adjustment on account of conversion of preferred stock for the new ten-sixty year, five per cent bonds) to preferred stockholders; and $10,166,050 to holders of common stock. After these payments there still remained undivided profits of a surplus of $17,037,047.

To the conservative investor and to those who have been waiting for the semi-annual statement, the main point of interest lies in ascertaining whether it gave by its net earnings an assurance of its ability to pay continuous fixed charges on its new issue of $200,000,000 (now quoted on the bond market at 83) as well as on its prior issue of $302,000,000. The annual interest on the total bond issues of $502,000,000, a five per cent amount to $25,200,000. The net earnings for six months as shown by the statements available for the payment of interest on bonds amounts to $54,182,936. Or in other words it being borne in mind that interest on bonds must be paid before dividends on preferred or common stock, the net earnings of the United States Steel corporation for six months were sufficient to pay the fixed charges on its total bond issues twice over; or at the same ratio of earnings for the second half year, five times over. In view of this, can any reasonable doubt prevail as to the ability of the corporation now making a net earning of $125,000,000 to pay a fixed charge of $25,000,000.

It would be difficult to martial conditions which would reduce the net earnings of this corporation fully one-half and even then the sum available for interest would be more than sufficient to pay the interest on all bond issues twice over. Strikes, competition, general business stagnation, which could bring about a loss in earnings equal to a reduction of seventy-five per cent would place half the railroads in the country in the hands of receivers. And even then an additional element of security is possessed by the steel corporation in its undivided profits of surplus to which the semi-annual statement shows an addition of $17,037,047; a sum in excess of six months interest on $500,000,000 of bonds at five per cent.

If it were not that railroad securities have been longer dealt in on the security market and are consequently better understood by the general public seeking investment for capital, it is safe to say that the last issue of United States Steel bonds would not be the bargains they are now. While these bonds are selling around 83 and 85 and will pay close on to six per cent, on the investment, railroads whose net earnings cannot compare with the United States steel corporation are selling much above par and are yielding less than four per cent on the investment.

THE LIBRARY SITE.

It is very likely that a number of sites will be presented at tonight's meeting of the city council, for the location of the new public library. It is a matter in which the public is interested, and the fact that it has hung fire so long, has whetted the public curiosity, if not the personal interest, as to the final abiding place of the seat of learning.

There is but one thing that will be demanded by the public, and that is that a location both central and reasonable in price be selected. It would be a wretched mistake to locate the building at either one end or the other of the town, or to enclose it in some place where it would be out of the way. Nor is it necessary that the building be placed in the center of the geographical boundaries. The council committee having charge of the matter may as well make up their minds to decide on what they deem right to all, and then go ahead and hew at that line. No matter where it is placed there will be some dissatisfaction. Everybody cannot be pleased. The reward in this, as in most work done for the public, is to be found in heaven. Man was born to kick and knock. Let plain horse-sense govern the gentlemen and the majority will be "with them."

A reduction of tariff charges upon the necessities of life will bring benefits palpable and substantial, seen and felt by thousands who will be better fed and better clothed and better sheltered." BOWSER'S STRANGE ACTIONS

He Spends the Evening at Home In a Quiet Manner and Makes His Wife Very Anxious

[Copyright, 1903, by C. B. Lewis.]

WHEN Mrs. Bowser sat down to her sewing the other afternoon she half expected that an express wagon would unload a fire escape or a patent alley gate at the door before the dinner hour. She also regarded it as highly probable that a man might come along with a new milk cow or a dozen hens purchased by Mr. Bowser earlier in the day.

Nothing out of the usual routine took place, however, and she made up her mind that he would bring home a bottle of spring tonic or a painting bought at an auction. She was disappointed in this as well. He quietly entered the house, carrying nothing but his umbrella and having failed to bang the gate after him in his usual vigorous style.

"Aren't you feeling as well this evening as usual?" she queried as she met him in the hall and noticed that he hung up his hat instead of dropping it on the floor.

"Never better," replied Mr. Bowser, "and I am ready for dinner."

"I must tell you," she said as she followed him to the dining room, "that our cook has gone. She walked off this noon, and I haven't got much of a dinner for you."

"That's all right, and you needn't worry," he good naturedly replied. "I didn't imagine she would stay long, and we can easily get another."

Mrs. Bowser had expected the usual lecture when a girl quit—all her fault; want of system; put too much work on the help; had no real interest in their welfare—and she looked at Mr. Bowser

"You haven't got a telegram that mother's dead, have you?" asked Mrs. Bowser as she became nervous over the situation.

"No, dear. I should be very sorry if I had."

"And is business good?"

"Never better."

"And—and you haven't seen a doctor who told you that you had heart disease and were liable to drop dead at any moment?"

"No, nothing of the kind. I think my heart is all right."

The cat and Mrs. Bowser exchanged looks, but they could not make it out. The newspaper was full of things to be discussed or disputed, but Mr. Bowser wasn't saying a word. His clear was a bad one, but he didn't utter one single threat against the seller. There was a hole in the heel of one of his socks, but he wasn't claiming to be a martyr and on his way to the poor-house.

The cat thought it over and grew suspicious and jumped down, and Mrs. Bowser thought it over and made up her mind to try a heroic remedy. The gas bill had come in that afternoon, and she took it off the mantel and said:

"I don't see how this comes. Our gas bill for this month is 35 cents more than last. I think you ought to investigate it."

"Oh, it's probably correct," indifferently replied Mr. Bowser, looking up.

On a hundred different occasions, even when the bill was smaller, he had waved it aloft and paraded around and threatened to sue and be sued clear to the court of last resort, but on this occasion he wouldn't even look at the figures.

There was one more remedy, and as soon as she could control her emotions Mrs. Bowser tried it. The range coal was out and some more must be ordered, and she so stated.

"Coal out, eh?" he repeated. "Well, dear, you made it last three days overtime and you'd better telephone the first thing in the morning."

"But do you think that last ton was as good as we have been getting?"

"Fully as good."

Neither the gas nor the coal question could start him, and Mrs. Bowser incidentally mentioned that the basement bell was out of order, the back door needed fixing and the boys in the street had thrown a stone and cracked a pane of glass in one of the upper windows.

Mrs. Bowser made no reply for three minutes. Then he yawned out:

"Well, don't worry over these things. I didn't sleep very well last night and I guess I'll go to bed."

He bade her good night and went upstairs. Five minutes later she was at in astonishment. He hadn't another word to say, nor did he utter a single complaint about the food. He spoke of the canal treaty and Roosevelt's chances of re-nomination, and when dinner was over he quietly observed:

"As the girl has gone, I will help you do the work."

"But you needn't do that. I can manage everything while you smoke and read."

He took off his coat and helped to clear the table, and when that had been accomplished he took his stand at the sink and washed the dishes for her to dry. His action brought tears to her eyes, but they were banished again by the thought that Mr. Bowser must have lost his mind since breakfast. It was years since he had been so quiet. Never in all his married life had he had a discloth in his hand. She had read and heard of people's minds becoming blanks, and as a test she softly asked:

"Can you remember all that happened to you today?"

"Certainly," he replied with a smile as he finished the last dish.

"And did you meet with any accident, or hear any bad news?"

"Nothing at all, dear. Now we are done I'll have a smoke."

When he had taken a seat in the rocking chair in the sitting room the family cat leaped upon his knee for the first time in two years, and to her great surprise he did not at once try to break her neck. On the contrary, her spinal column was rubbed, in a way to bring out perspiration, and he even extended the rubbing to her tail.

An Old Favorite

THE SMACK IN SCHOOL

By William Pitt Palmer

WILLIAM PITT PALMER, author of "The Smack In School," "Ode to Light," "Orpheus and Eurydice" and other poems that gained wide popularity, was born in Stockbridge, Mass., in 1836 and died in Brookline in 1894. He was successively a medical student, a teacher, a journalist and an official of insurance companies. Most of his life was spent in New York city. The Berkshire hills referred to in the second line are the range of low mountains in western Massachusetts.

A DISTRICT school, not far away, 'Mid Berkshire hills, one winter's day, Was humming with its wonted noise Of threescore mingled girls and boys; Some few upon their tasks intent, But more on furtive mischief bent. The while the master's downward look, Was fastened on a copy-book; When suddenly, behind his back, Rose sharp and clear a rousing smack! As 'twere a battery of bliss Let off in one tremendous kiss! "What's that?" the startled master cries: "That, thir," a little imp replies, "Wath William Willith, if you pleathe,— I thaw him kith Thuthanna Peathe!" With frown to make a statue thrill. The master thundered, "Hither, Will!" Like wretch o'ertaken in his track, With stolen chattels on his back, Will hung his head in fear and shame, And to the awful presence came— A great, green, bashful simpleton, The butt of all good-natured fun. With smile suppressed, and birch upraised, The threatener faltered, "I'm amazed That you, my biggest pupil, should Be guilty of an act so rude! Before the whole set school to boot— What evil genius put you to't?" "Twas she herself, sir," sobbed the lad, "I did not mean to be so bad; But when Susannah shook her curls, And whispered, I was 'fraid of girls, And dursn't kiss a baby's doll, I couldn't stand it, sir, at all, But up and kissed her on the spot! I know—boo-hoo—I ought to not, But, somehow, from her looks—boo-hoo—I thought she kind o' wished me to!"

Miss Mabel McKinley Baer's
Ballad "Anona" • Plans of the Shuberts.

Mabel McKinley Baer, the favorite niece of the late President McKinley, has won celebrity as the composer of one of the most pleasing musical numbers of the day. It is played by orchestras and bands as an intermezzo for concert purposes or as a two-step at dances and is also issued as a ballad under the title "Anona." Mrs. Baer has been a student of music since childhood, and during her uncle's administration her songs were pleasant features of social gatherings at the White House.

It is only recently, however, that the composer of "Anona" ventured to publish any of them, and then under the pseudonym of Vivian Grey. The unexpected success of her first published song brought requests from the publishers for more, and "Anona" is her one of the companies of E. R. Keyrolds for several seasons, playing the star roles in "The Royal Rogue" and "The Emerald Isle."

De Angelis, Gerard Coventry and Sam S. Shubert are in Europe to look at a new comic opera production now playing the English provinces of which the Messrs. Shubert have acquired the American rights. It is not settled that De Angelis is to play in this piece. It is more probable that he will become the star of an up to date musical comedy by an American librettist and composer.

Among the players engaged to support Miss Fay Templeton in Clyde Fitch's "The Infant Prodigy" are George K. Fortescue and Miss May McKenzie. Mr. Fortescue is now in San Francisco playing a summer engagement at the California theater with Daly's Theater Musical Comedy company, under the management of J. C. Duff. Miss McKenzie has been with the Weber & Fields forces several seasons playing minor roles.

Miss Templeton was particularly anxious to have Miss McKenzie in her company because there is one part in the production which will fit her even better than the white knickerbockers she used to wear in Weber & Fields' "Fiddle Dee Dee." For the Paula Edwards show, "Winsome Winnie," by Jakobowski & Paulton, the Messrs. Shubert have secured the signed contracts of Miss Helen Redmond, Joseph C. Miron, W. P. Carleton, Tom Daniels and Clarence Harvey.

Miss Helen Redmond was for two seasons the Dolores of Fisher & Ryley's No. 1 "Florodora" company, and previous to that she was with Frank Daniels. Joseph C. Miron was formerly of the Alice Neilson Opera company, year before last was one of the features of "The Chaperons" and last season starred in "The Princess Chic." W. P. Carleton, the son of W. T. Carleton, has been with "Florodora" for two years and previous to that had been seen in New York in "The Belle of New York" and other productions. Tom Daniels is the big basso who for two seasons past did the principal role, next to Lulu Glaser, in F. C. Whitney's production of "Dolly Varden." Clarence Harvey is the remarkably agile comedian who was seen last season in "The Country Girl." He played one of the principal roles and was understudy to William Norris. Previous to that he had been the comedy feature of the Wilbur and Bennett & Moulton Opera companies.

Catcher Duke Farrell Tells About One of Cy Seymour's "Aerial Flights" * Eccentric Rube Waddell. Dahlen's Mistake.

The striking success Cy Seymour has made as an outfielder with Cincinnati recalls to fans the time when Cy dawned upon rooters with ambitions as a slab artist. Many reasons were assigned for Seymour's failure as a box man with the New York Nationals, but the real cause for it was his lack of control.

"Seymour's first game with the Giants," said Duke Farrell, the veteran catcher, the other day, "gave me the toughest job I ever had in one game in my life. When the team visited the west on its first trip that year Cy was left behind, with instructions to practice every day. From the beginning of the trip the Giants were up against it, and by the time we got around to Chicago every one of our pitchers, with the exception of Dad Clarke, was on the hospital list.

"There was nothing for it but to send on for Seymour. Cy landed in Chicago feeling frisky, and it was decided to put him in that afternoon. For seven innings there was nothing doing in the line of run getting for the Colts. Cy was working all to the good. He had a drop ball that was wonderful, and his speed had the Chicago batters scared to death. Not a hit did the Colts get off Cy in those seven innings, and things looked rosy enough for us, inasmuch as we had not footed the circuit eight times.

"There were two out in the seventh when Seymour's air ship made its appearance, and for the next twenty minutes I did everything but climb over the grand stand.

"Cy lost his bearings for the third man up and let him walk. Then he slammed one into the next man's bread basket. Then came a couple of wild pitches, and then some one stuck out his bat and clouted a hit. The aerial flight had begun, and I knew it. I walked out and tried to pull Cy together, but he waved me back and hustled over to the players' bench. After putting away two or three glasses of water he hustled back to the box.

"The crowd had got on in the meantime, and they were howling like a lot of Comanche Indians. For the next ten minutes I don't think Cy got more than three over the plate, and all of these the Colts swatted for lousy singles. Seymour was so hot that he did not know what he was doing. First he took off his cap and tossed it over to the side lines. He recovered that and then took off his glove and threw it away. Then the cap went again. I think he would have taken off his shoes if he had not been stopped. All this time I was alternately trying to get him back to earth and chasing to the grand stand after wild ones.

"Seymour was paying no attention to my signals, and I was getting my hands all torn up. Finally Cy was worked up to such a state that after making a pitch he would run to the plate and grab the ball out of my hands, hustle back and, without waiting for my sign, shoot it back. Nine Chicago runs had crossed the plate before the third man had been disposed of. Cy came back to earth in the next inning, but the game was lost. Seymour subsequently in his career had many aerial flights, but nothing like his Chicago performance."

Rube Waddell, the crack pitcher for the Philadelphia Athletics, says President Pulliam of the Nationals, is the cheapest good ball player in the business today.

"Salary" continues the president. "Rube doesn't care whether he gets any salary or not. All you have to do is to keep him supplied with spending money and cigarettes, and he doesn't bother about the rest. He doesn't care any more about money than I do about the mud in the street. He never even comes around to get his check at

Charles W. Pape, Pacific Rowing Champion & Pugilistic Gossip

"Pop" Anson was a quick thinker on the ball field, but once he released a second base man for thinking a little bit quicker than anybody else on the nine.

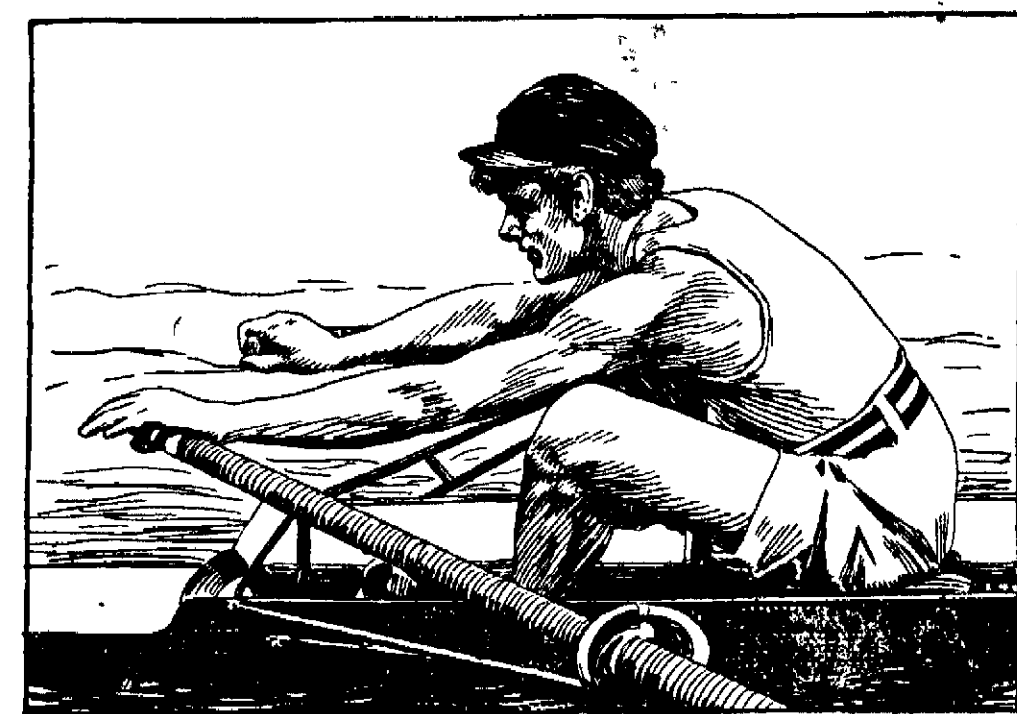

The second base man in question was "Bad Bill" Eagan. Everybody who remembers "Bad Bill" will admit his supremacy on the second bag. When the play in question came up there was a base runner on second. Chicago was one run to the good, and it was in the last half of the ninth inning.

Bill Dahlen, now with Ed Hanlon's Brooklynites, was playing third base for Chicago. The man at bat hit a sharp liner down to second. Eagan started for it, and at the same instant the man on second started for third base.

The liner was a clipper, and the ball struck "Bad Bill's" hands and bounded out. It struck the ground ten feet away, with Eagan right after it. Once he got his hands on it, without stopping to look where he was throwing, "Bad Bill" let the ball fly to Dahlen at third base.

Most ball players after fumbling the ball would have tossed it to the pitcher or thrown it home if, after looking around, they saw that the base runner had started to try to score.

In this case the base runner, after touching third, went on for twenty feet and then stopped for an instant to see what had become of the ball. He saw it coming straight as a die for third base and went back there like a flash. But the ball beat him by ten feet. Unfortunately for the game, and also for "Bad Bill" Dahlen had taken it for apart than he could if he had them close together. Pape uses a seven inch blade and is entirely satisfied with his way of doing things. "In a race," he said recently, "I always like to jolly my opponent, and my plan is to beat him in the first 100 yards or so by setting a very hot pace and taking a good lead at the very beginning."

Jim Corbett is now doing light preliminary training for his fight with Jeffries. He has in fact been preparing himself for this bout for the last four or five months and as a result claims that he is bigger, stronger and faster than ever before.

Of course none of us particularly desires to dispute this matter with Corbett—at least while in range—but at the same time he will have to do a lot of convincing before the ever easy public believes that he is anything like the Jim Corbett of, say, five or six years ago.

If Corbett stays fifteen of the twenty rounds with Jeff a majority of the pugilistic sharps will be surprised. It is a thirty to one shot that he could not knock out Jeffries if the latter stood with his hands at his sides, for the ex-boiler maker has a muscular development and a bony framework of so stanch a nature that a man of phenomenal strength would be required to make any noticeable impression on him. Corbett was never extraordinarily strong. It is more certain still that he is not overburdened with muscle and stamina at the present time, and as for the future—well, he is clearly past the stage where he can improve to any great extent. BASEBALL BITS.

Baltimore has purchased Castro and Haydon from the Rochester (N. Y.) club.

Baltimore has signed Burchell, released from the Philadelphia National league club.

Ed Abbatichio is playing a great game at second for Buckenberger's Boston Nationals.

Tom McCreery, formerly of Brooklyn, has a batting average of over .400 in the American association.

Twenty-nine players who have at some time worn a Cleveland uniform are now with other minor league teams.

According to records recently compiled, Conroy of the New York Americans is the best base runner in San Johnson's league.

Charles W. Pape, Pacific Rowing Champion & Pugilistic Gossip

Charles W. Pape of San Francisco, the champion single sculler of the Pacific coast, who is now in the east seeking the scalps of rival competitors for national honors, is one of the remarkable amateur athletes of the country.

He is not only winner of a trunkful of rowing trophies, but is also a swimmer of championship caliber, having defeated several of the well known California aquatic performers.

Pape has had a remarkable career. In 1897 he joined the Dolphin club of San Francisco. He then held the quarter mile swimming championship of the Pacific coast, and after rowing for two months he won his club championship. In the same year he won the championship of San Francisco from a field of four starters over the regulation course of one and one-half miles with turn.

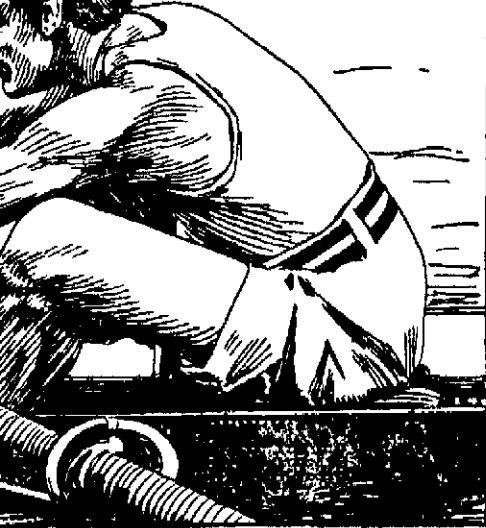

Pape has since successfully defended his title for three years. He competed in a junior single event and went through his classes until he finally won the senior singles championship of the Pacific Athletic association in 1898, beating W. McCausland of Toronto.

In 1899 he again won the senior singles and in 1900, at Astoria, Ore., once more captured the championship singles. The following year in Oregon he defeated Gloss, the champion of the northwest, in a match race. In 1902 he added to his laurels by winning the championship of the Pacific coast.

Pape is a tall, wiry looking athlete, standing 5 feet 11½ inches and weighing 152 pounds in condition, and is thirty years old.

He attributes his success as an oarsman to his own unique style. He never took a lesson in his life, excepting a few pointers from Leander Stevenson on watermanship and finish in handling his oars.

Pape has a very peculiar style. He rows with his knees outside of his elbows. He claims that he can secure a firmer grip on the water with his knees granted that Eagan would throw the ball to the home plate, and was not looking for it to be thrown to him. Consequently the ball went by him, going within four inches of his nose and striking the grand stand far behind.

The result was that both base runners got safely home before Dahlen recovered himself and the ball, and the game was lost to Chicago. Anson was furious, and immediately after the game gave "Bad Bill" his release for making that throw. As a matter of fact it was the best possible play under the circumstances, and Dahlen rather than "Bad Bill" was to blame because it did not come out as planned. If Dahlen had thought as quickly as Bill the game might have been settled right then and there.

Newport Thirty Footers.

The owners of the thirty foot yachts which make Newport their headquarters are having their boats put in readiness for the racing season. Captain Knutson has put Reginald Brooks' Wa Wa in commission and has taken the boat to New York to receive a new set of sails which Ratsey is making.

Captain Seaman, who will be in charge of the Carolina, will take that boat from Bristol in a few days. He will be the professional skipper under the direction of Payne Whitney, who will have charge of the Carolina during the absence of her owner, Pembroke Jones. The other boats of the class are now in readiness.

bring new life and activity, remove the pain and cure the cause, from common backache to dangerous diabetes.

Mr. L. D. Hazzard, of 1130 Lane street, Hamilton, O., paper hanger, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills removed the lameness and aching from my back and strengthened my kidneys. I procured them from J. O. Schwartz's drug store, and since taking the treatment the annoyance from the kidneys has disappeared, and the attacks of backache, which originated from a strain I received, were banished. Doan's Kidney Pills are the best kidney remedy I ever used, and I have no hesitancy in recommending them to others."

For Good Roads

A concerted effort is being made to organize a "good roads association" in Ohio, and a meeting has been called in Canton at 10 a. m. Wednesday, July 29. The following letter to The Age is self explanatory: Canton, O., July 14th.

"Dear Editor:—A 'Good Roads Convention' for Ohio has been talked of for some time and as everybody is in favor of good roads, the committee thought the opportune time to call a convention of people interested in good roads would be the last week in July, in this city. Canton will have a 'home week' celebration during that week and it will enable all people who desire to take an interest to visit Canton at a low rate during that week. The object is to form a permanent Good Roads society, and the convention will be addressed by prominent men who have been identified with good roads for years.

"Therefore, every county commissioner, every township trustee and every road supervisor in Ohio is respectfully invited to be present, as matters of importance will be discussed. Every county commissioner, township trustee and every road supervisor will be entitled to one vote in the convention and all others who have been identified with good roads. Please make mention of this in your paper, for by doing so you will confer an everlasting good to mankind. You are no doubt in favor of, and enthusiastic for good roads.

"Very truly yours,
George C. Brissel, Chairman.

THE LIME-KILN CLUB

Brother Gardner Lectures on Spooks, Dreams and Things.

"MY fren's," said Brother Gardner to the members of the Limekiln club after the windows had been opened to let the smoke out, "I has bin told dat Samuel Shin an' not heah tonight becase he met up wid a spook two evenin's ago an' de ghost mighty neah broke his back.

"I has also bin told dat Cartwheel Johnson was afeared to leave his house becase of a dream he had, an' dat Givadam Jones an' keepin' mighty quiet nowadays becase he has seen a sign in de heavens dat he am not long fur dis world.

"In my time I has had a heap of experience wid sich things, an' I am gwine to say a few words to yo'. In de fust place, am dar sich a thing as a spook? I answer dat dar is. I hev seen as many as fo'teen of dem in de last fo'ty years.

"A spook am a thing all kivered up in a white sheet an' floatin' around in de darkness. A spook allus carries a club an' grits its teeth. If yo' has bin downtown shootin' craps till midnight an' has lost de $2 de old woman wanted fur a pair of shoes keep yo'r eye out fur spooks as yo' open de gate. Look to de right an' de left as yo' tiptoe along. Yo' hope de old woman am in bed an' sound asleep an' dat de spooks hev all gone off to a cake walk, but a surprise party awaits yo'." "Bout de time yo' put yo'r hand on de knob of de kitchen doah a spook rises up from behind an ash bar'l an' swings a club ag'in de back of yo'r neck, an' de next half hour am all a dream to yo'.

"I don't know what dream Cartwheel Johnson had, but I've had some powerful warnin's in my time.

"Once I dreamed of walkin' in de road wid seven brack cats follerin' arter me, an' de next day I got into a dispute wid Deacon Taylor 'bout de garden of Eden an' was laid up in bed fur a week.

"At anoder time I dreamed I was a black horse chasin' a white cow around, an' it wasn't two days betw' I came down wid de mumps an' couldn't git my mouf open fur ten days.

"Ag'in I dreamed dat I was a feather bed, an' dat a cull'd pumson had stole me off de fence whar I was takin' a sun bath, an' dat werry night my dawg died in convulsions an' de roof of de wood shed caved in.

"I has also had experience wid signs.

"One night as I was 'bout startin' out to go up de alley wid a bag on my arm I saw a star fall from de heavens. I should hev turned back an' gone to bed, but I didn't. I kept on after dose chickens, an' 'bout de time I got 'em a policeman got me, an' I went up fur thirty days.

"At anoder time I was gwine along de road an' a hunchback asked me what time it was. It was sich a good sign dat I invested fo' dollars in a lottery ticket an' lost every cent of it.

"Oh, yes, my frens, I has had heaps an' heaps to do wid spooks an' dreams an' signs an' ha'nts, an' yo' kin cum to me fur advice any time. I'll save yo' de trouble, however, by givin' yo' some advice right heah an' now.

"On my way home dis evenin' I shall drap into Samuel Shin's cabin for a little chat, an' if I find he hasn't got sense 'nuff in his head to know dat de spook dat fetched him a whack was his old woman, den he won't be a member of dis club ober two days longer. I don't want to gib Mrs. Shin away, but I can't hev de discipline of dis club upset.

"When I git frew talkin' wid Brudder Shin I shall drap in on Brudder Johnson an' ax him 'bout dat dream of his dat made him afeared to come out tonight. He may hev dreamed dat he was up in a balloon or down in a coal mine, but I reckon he'll be trottin' up an' down de road at a lively gait widin ten minutes arter I strike his house.

"As fur Brudder Jones, who has seen a sign an' am steppin' around softly, I want to ax him what sort of a sign it was."

"It was a red moon, sah," announced Brudder Jones in a hushed voice.

"An' did yo' see it at midnight?"

"Yes, sah."

"An' ober yo'r left shoulder?"

"Yes, sah."

"An' did a black cat yeowl out at de same minute?"

"She did, sah."

"Dat's a bad sign, Brudder Jones—a werry bad sign. It's a sign dat de windows of dis hall want washin' an' de stove a coat of blackin' an' dat if yo', as janitor, don't hev de work all done befo' de next meetin' of dis club I'll hev an interview wid yo' in de ante-room dat will make yo'r heart ache for a month.

"An' I've gwine to say jest a word or two to de rest of yo'. Dis Limekiln club am supposed to be composed of sensible pumsons. It am de representative an' mouthpiece of de 60,000,000 cull'd men in America. Its members am s'posed to hev passed de alge of ghosts an' spooks, dreams an' signs, an' to be lookin' on de serious side of things. We ain't stoppin' de wheels of progress becase a black cat happens to cross de road in front of us, an' we ain't turnin' into chill'en becase we hear de bray of a mewl ober our left shoulder.

"I want no mo' nonsense. Yo' want to drap all ghosts an' spooks an' signs down de well, an' yo' want to wake up in de mawnin' an' send all yo'r dreams out of de window. It's either dat or go.

"De next member who sees a spook or dreams a dream will find de doahs locked on him, an' if he hangs around too long I shall make it my duty to leave de cha'r an' go out an' make him see sich signs dat his ears won't git ober feelin' cold fur a year to cum.

"We will now break dis meetin' in two an' go home, but I shall foller elus behind sartin members, an' in case dey see any white crows or red moons loadin' around dey kin look out fur consequences dat will lift deir heels off de airth."

Why Solomon Doubted.

The little boy was asked by a Sunday school teacher to write all he knew about Solomon and hand his paper to her the next Sunday. The following Sunday he handed her a slip of paper on which was written:

"King Solomon was a great and wise man. He had 100 wives. After that he did not believe in God."—New York Times.

SILK MOUSELAIN.

An article very familiar to the trade, being made of silk and Egyptian yarn. The fabric is so sheer and dainty that it has every appearance of a pure silk fabric. Customers generally are accustomed to paying 50c per yard for this fabric, as millions of yards have been marked at that price. We have about 1000 yards of the above goods and while they last you can have them at the small price of 19c per yard. If you are interested come at once. They will not last long.

At 15c per yard:

We are offering all our 20, 25 and 35c. Wash Goods. A handsome collection of the choicest weaves known on the market.

At 12½c. per yard, we are offering about 2000 yards of fine Embroidered Swisses, Lace Stripe Lawns heretofore at 18 to 25c per yard.

2000 yards of Lonsdale Cambric Muslin at 9c per yard, sold all over the land at 12 1-2c. We do not promise to duplicate this price again. Get what you want now at the Fountain. You buy all the best prints, such as American Indigo, Simpson black and white, Tartan reds, French blues. The best goods manufactured a 5c per yard. Also a large assortment of Lancaster and Amskeag apron Gingham at 6c per yard. A good yard wide brown Muslin at 3 1-2c. A heavy 4-yard Sheeting at 5c per yard. In fact the Big Store is selling goods today cheaper than they were sold during the hard times of 1892 and 1893.

When we consider the great prosperity of the people today and the vast amount of money circulating everywhere and the extremely high prices prevailing in many lines, you wonder how we can do this. But the fact is we are doing it every day.

Some people said when the Fountain opened their New Store their prices would be high. We heard this frequently before opening our new store, but we have not heard from these people lately. It is just to the contrary—the larger we can make our business the cheaper we can sell and will sell the goods.

Trade at the Big Fountain Store—Coshocton's Great Retail Establishment.

YOURS FOR BARGAINS,

ANOTHER VICTORY

Dr. Cooper and His Wonderful Medicine Win Again.

TAPEWORM 72 FEET LONG

Charles Reigle, Second Street Butcher, Living Testimonial of Worth of Dr. Cooper's Remedies.

Dr. Cooper's famous medicine has made another victory. Another tapeworm landed!

Today the happy man thus relieved is Charles H. Reigle, the well known butcher of North Second street, member of the firm of Reigle brothers.

He is a young man of known veracity, and freely testifies that after just three doses of the doctor's medicine he was relieved of a tape worm 72 feet long.

For a number of years Mr. Reigle has imagined himself to be bothered with dyspepsia and stomach trouble. He has taken medicine and had doctors diagnose his case, all without relief, except to his pocketbook.

Feeling that as Dr. Cooper was accomplishing so much among Coshocton people, he might as well seek some relief from his pain, he called on him. The doctor did not hesitate after careful examination to tell him he had a tapeworm.

Mr. Reigle followed directions and took three doses. Relief came. He was surprised, himself, but there is not a happier man in Coshocton than Charley Reigle.

Dr. Cooper is working like a beaver, trying to give attention to the vast crowd of patients that have placed themselves under his care since his advent in Coshocton. He has four assistants at his office, corner of Third and Walnut streets, and works all day and most of the night but is still unable to give his patients the attention he would like.

Tonight he will give a lecture on the pavilion regarding the dangers of the tapeworm, and will exhibit the latest "catch." His talks are interesting and to the point, and very instructive.

Go tonight and hear the new vaudeville program. Dr. Cooper's new band will also play a number of fine concert numbers, both on the street and at the pavilion.

Dr. Cooper is daily adding to his myriads of friends in Coshocton, and is making victories where others have found the direst failures. "The difference is," says the doctor, "my medicine does the business. It is not an experiment. It does the work it is intended to do, and does it effectively."

Sick List.

Harry Hunt, one of the efficient attaches of the Commercial bank, is confined to his home by illness.
